LONDON BOROUGH OF WALTHAM FOREST

MY STREET

www.walthamforest.gov.uk/mystreet

DEAR RESIDENT

From our conversations with you we know that the cleanliness and quality of our streets is one of your main concerns.

That is why we have made enormous efforts in recent years to improve our local environment by hammering down fly-tipping by a third, providing a free bulky waste collection service, and pushing policy changes and making innovative improvements to tackle enviro-crime.

We want to continue to improve the quality of these services, but we also need you – our residents – to help. That means putting your litter in the bin when you're out and about, picking up after your dog and reducing, reusing and recycling whatever you can.

Where you see fly-tipping or other problems in your neighbourhood, we want to hear about it and work with you to stop people messing up our borough. To help us to achieve this we have set up a new Neighbourhoods Team that is dedicated to making sure that your streets are clean, green, safe and most of all loved.

Each of the four neighbourhoods of the borough – North, Central, South East and South West – has its own dedicated team of officers who cover everything from waste and recycling to noise nuisance and anti-social behaviour.

Over the coming weeks you will be able to read more about the work of the new Neighbourhoods Team in Waltham Forest News. Our aim is to deliver the best possible service to our residents, and work with you to make the most of Waltham Forest.

MAKING SURE YOUR STREET IS CLEAN GREEN SAFE LOVED

Councillor Clyde Loakes

Deputy Leader of
Waltham Forest Council
Cabinet Member for Environment

The borough is divided into four neighbourhood areas, each headed up by a manager.

As well as getting on with all of the day-to-day services that you expect, they work with councillors, residents and other organisations to spot patterns and tackle problems before they arise.

Coordinating activity across a whole host of partners from other Council services and the police to the UK Border Agency and HMRC, the new Neighbourhoods Team makes sure that the right people are on board to bring about lasting solutions to any issues.

RESPONSIBILITIES INCLUDE:

- STREET TRADING
- UNTIDY FRONT GARDENS
- ENVIRONMENTAL PROTECTION
- MONITORING PARKS AND OPEN SPACES
- REFUSE AND STREET CLEANSING
(MANAGING CONTRACTORS)
- ENVIRO-CRIME
- ABANDONED VEHICLES
- FLY-TIPPING
- FOOD HYGIENE
- PLANNING ENFORCEMENT
- WASTE, CLEANSING, GROUNDS, AND ARBORICULTURAL MANAGEMENT
- ANTI-SOCIAL BEHAVIOUR
- GRAFFITI REMOVAL

DANGEROUS DOGS

Introduced in 2010 the Dog Enforcement Team helps keep residents safe in our parks and open spaces.

Since that time the team has gone from strength to strength, achieving the "RSPCA Gold Footprint Award" six years in a row, and now not only covers the entire borough, but is also paid to deliver services to Enfield and Haringey, and works across London with the Metropolitan Police. The Dog Enforcement service is a key part of our new Neighbourhoods Team and operates seven days a week, 365 days a year.

Waltham Forest has the largest local authority kennel facility in London and in the last five years the team has collected over 2,220 stray dogs, and seized over 400 banned breeds.

The team recently seized a Dogo Argentino, which is a rarely seen breed in the UK and is banned under the Dangerous Dogs Act. The breed originated from Argentina where they are used for big-game hunting. Only a handful of this breed has been seized since they were banned in 1991.

Lea Bridge Station on track

Lea Bridge Station is set to reopen in 2016 and work has already begun on site

Leyton residents will soon be able to reach two of London's key transport hubs in just 12 minutes – a third of the time it currently takes. After 30 years of closure, works to re-open Lea Bridge Station have started, marking the culmination of a 15 year vision for Waltham Forest Council.

Lea Bridge Station sits in the Northern Olympic Fringe Area – a spot identified for its future regeneration and growth potential. But since the station's closure 30 years ago, commuters wanting fast access to Stratford and Tottenham Hale have had to grapple with bus journeys of around 40 minutes, and even longer to get to Stansted Airport.

Work needed to re-open the station in 2016 started on site on Monday 18 May. When it is finished, passengers will have direct links to both Stratford and Tottenham Hale and journey times of five minutes apiece.

Stratford is the nearest high-speed station to central London, connecting to services to Europe, and Tottenham Hale provides easy connections to Stansted Airport, meaning the new station will open the western part of Waltham Forest up to commercial opportunities in London and Europe.

The scheme is funded with a mixture of £5million in Council capital funding, £1.1million from the Department for Transport's New Stations Fund and £5.5million from Stratford City Section 106 funds.

Council Leader, Chris Robbins, said: "Lea Bridge Station will really help open Leyton up for growth, giving the area better and faster links to crucial transport hubs, and making it a more attractive prospect for residents, developers and businesses.

"For years it's been a project we have committed to making happen, and going forward it will form the centrepiece of wider plans to rejuvenate the area and create a new Leyton village, spurring even more regeneration and change."

Abellio Greater Anglia will run the station's train services when it re-opens.

Landlord licensing information

Waltham Forest's Private Rented Property Licensing scheme requires that all landlords have a licence for each home they rent out in the borough

- Borough landlords have until 15 June to get their discounted Private Rented Property Licence
- Scheme aims to improve housing standards for residents who rent privately

Time is running out for the borough's landlords to take advantage of the Council's 50 per cent discount offer for Private Rented Property Licences. The 'early bird' offer runs until Monday 15 June, and saves landlords £250 per property for a five year licence.

All properties that are privately rented in the borough now need to be licenced, and a separate licence is required for each and every property. The only way to apply for a licence is online. Those who miss out on the 'early bird' offer will have to pay the full cost of £500 for each licence they require.

Landlords found without a licence face enforcement action that could result in prosecution and a fine. Once in possession of a licence, landlords that do not comply with the conditions of licence could also be subject to a fine.

Gllr Kheyn Limbajee, Cabinet Member for Housing, said: "We have many good landlords in the borough who are very supportive of the scheme. They understand the need to improve housing standards for the benefit of all residents and tackle anti-social behaviour. The reduced rate of £250 for five years works out at 96p a week, so it is not a huge expense and one that any decent, responsible landlord – of which there are many in the borough – will be more than willing to pay."

In my opinion

Nick Cheshire

Director, Little Free Library Project

I should start by saying that I'm not an artist. At least I wouldn't consider myself to be an artist. However, about this time last year, I found myself at the centre of what I would have to describe as an art project. Almost every room of my house was filled with colourfully-decorated little house shaped boxes. Twelve in total, they would each be filled with books and go on to be installed in gardens, cafes, pubs and community spaces around Walthamstow as part of the 10th annual E17 Art Trail.

I moved to Walthamstow 11 years ago, the same year that the Art Trail first began. I had always been aware of the Trail and have enjoyed many of the exhibitions and performances over the years, but never thought that it was something I would be directly involved with.

By getting involved as an exhibitor last year and working with some fantastic local artists, I have gained an illuminating insight into the world of art. The Trail gives both professional and aspiring artists the opportunity to share their creative ideas with the community.

The Trail also encourages collaboration between artists and community organisers. From my perspective, the Trail enabled me to take an idea that I had seen in a small town in America and recreate it in my own way.

Working with some of the area's best artists, we were able to create London's first neighbourhood network of Little Free Libraries. Launched at last year's Trail, what started as a one-off project has now become a thriving national charity. We have continued to collaborate with artists across London and the UK, with LFLs popping up from Brighton to Bradford. On Thursday 14 May we opened the first Little Free Library in central London – a full sized replica of a traditional red phone box!

The charity's aims are to promote art, reading and community engagement.

Without the E17 Art Trail, we wouldn't have been able to do this. I may not consider myself to be an artist, but the Trail has enabled me to take art to places and people who need it most. Come along and see some of the brilliant exhibits and performances at this year's Trail. You never know, maybe you're an artist after all!

This year's Trail takes place from Saturday 30 May to Sunday 14 June. To find out more, visit www.e17arttrail.co.uk.

Universal Credit introduced

The government's Universal Credit scheme, which is changing the way that some people receive certain benefits, began in Waltham Forest on Monday 18 May. Universal Credit is a new type of benefit which aims to support people who are on a low income or out of work. It is administered by the Department for Work and Pensions (DWP).

Universal Credit is being introduced in stages, and will eventually replace housing benefit, income support (IS), jobseekers allowance (JSA), employment and support allowance (ESA), child tax credit and working tax credit, budgeting loans and crisis loans. Some other types of benefits will continue to exist. Some will count as income when universal credit is calculated, and others will not. People of pension age will not be affected by Universal Credit.

People who are eligible for Universal Credit will receive a single monthly payment into their chosen bank account. If the payment you receive includes rent, you will need to pay this directly to your landlord yourself.

At present, Universal Credit only affects some newly unemployed single people in Waltham Forest.

This includes those who are eligible for housing benefit. Whether or not you can claim Universal Credit depends on your individual circumstances. For example, at the moment it will not apply to couples, carers, families with dependent children, homeless people or those living in supported or temporary accommodation.

The DWP say that the amount of Universal Credit people receive will gradually reduce as they earn more, but that unlike JSA your payment won't stop when you work more than 16 hours a week. This means that people can take temporary jobs without having to make a brand new claim if that work comes to an end.

Those who make a claim for Universal Credit will be required to sign a 'Claimant Commitment' which requires you to search or prepare for work for 35 hours a week.

In brief

Leytonstone market

Love Your Local Market 2015, which ran from Wednesday 13 to Wednesday 27 May, not only saw plenty of local residents taking advantage of the established markets up and down the borough, but also saw the introduction of a new market to Leytonstone. The new monthly street market in Church Lane launched on Saturday 16 May featuring a range of handcrafted goods, artwork and homemade food, among other stalls. It follows an initial successful four day trial in the build up to Christmas last year.

EMD cinema announcement

Plans to bring the former Granada/EMD Cinema in Hoe Street, Walthamstow back into use have received a boost

Plans to bring the 1930s EMD cinema on Hoe Street in Walthamstow back into community use took a giant leap forward last week, when the purchase of the building was formally completed by Antic Pub Chain.

Leader of Waltham Forest Council, Chris Robbins, announced the purchase at the Annual Council meeting on Thursday 21 May. Cllr Robbins said: "After a long drawn out period, I am delighted to announce that Antic Pub Chain have today completed the purchase of the EMD building. This is a major step in bringing this wonderful building back into community use and making sure that our residents can enjoy top quality entertainment facilities right here in our borough."

"We now expect a planning application in the coming weeks and further discussions between Antic and Soho Theatre about the running of the auditorium, but for now we can all recognise what an important step this is in a very long running saga."

4 Priorities

Improving quality of life for all

Waltham Forest Council has five key priorities to help improve the lives of residents. In this edition we look at what is being done to help all residents enjoy a good quality of life

The Freedom Pass helps older and disabled residents to stay independent

Young residents enjoyed 'Museums at Night'

Make use of Waltham Forest's refurbished leisure centres and apply for free swimming

Whether it's helping ease financial pressures by freezing council tax until at least 2016 or investing in services designed to help you and your family stay healthy and happy, the Council is working hard to support residents.

We're investing millions to refurbish leisure centres, delivering an extensive arts and events programme, and maintaining and improving the parks and open spaces you and your families love to visit.

Freedom Pass

Funding the Freedom Pass scheme for older, vulnerable and disabled residents is just one of the ways in which the Council is helping local people enjoy a good quality of life.

The fantastic initiative helps thousands of older and eligible disabled people to live independently by giving them the opportunity to get out of their home and travel around the capital for free.

Eligible residents will be able to apply for a Freedom Pass online for the first time from Monday 1 July. Anyone unable to apply online can use a paper form, which is available at local libraries and to download from the Freedom Pass website.

For more information, visit www.freedompass.org or phone 0300 330 1433 Monday to Sunday, 8am to 8pm.

Our Parks gets social

Residents have been enjoying free outdoor activity sessions in the borough's parks since March 2014, thanks to the Our Parks scheme.

More than 4,500 of you have signed up, attending a combined total of more than 20,000 fitness sessions in the first year. Sessions are suitable for all ages and abilities, and are completely free to attend. Aside from the obvious health benefits, the programme also gives you the opportunity to meet new people.

Our Parks is set to be extended this summer to include 'social sport' sessions. To encourage even more people to take part, the scheme will start offering sports such as volleyball and football – perfect for residents who like to keep fit by playing team sports, but who don't have enough people to form a team.

For more information visit www.ourparks.org.uk/borough/waltham-forest.

Museums at night

Every year, thousands of residents enjoy dozens of free events laid on by the Council as part of the 'Get Together' programme. But as well as these large scale events, the award-winning William Morris Gallery (Forest Road, E17 4PY) and Vestry House Museum (E17 9NH) host hundreds of other activities for families.

The William Morris Gallery hosted an unusual event on Saturday 16 May as 40 visitors turned up with pyjamas for a special sleepover. Families spent the night at the Gallery as part of Museums at Night – a UK-wide festival that sees museums open their doors 'after hours'.

The 'Expedition to Iceland' sleepover was inspired by William Morris' fascination with Iceland, the landscape, its people and strong folk culture. Families laid out their sleeping bags before exploring the Gallery in darkness and using torches to decode clues about the objects on display.

They also took part in workshops and watched a new specially-commissioned show from E17 Puppet Project about Sigurd the Volsung.

For more information visit www.wmgallery.org.uk or phone 020 8496 4390.

'From Poland to Waltham Forest'

A new heritage lottery-funded exhibition opens at Vestry House Museum on Saturday 30 May as part of the community-led E17 Art Trail 2015. 'From Poland to Waltham Forest' is a project from Share UK, a non-profit organisation based in Walthamstow.

Between October 2014 and March 2015 local artist Esther Freeman conducted oral history interviews with people of Polish heritage who live in Waltham Forest. Some fled war, persecution and poverty; others came for work, love or friendship. Through 15 individual stories, spanning four migratory waves, the exhibition illustrates how Polish people have shaped the community we know today.

For more information visit www.frompoland.org.uk.

Going swimmingly

Recently, it's seemed as though a typical English summer is on the cards this year – when it's not tipping down with rain, it's hot enough to melt the flake in your 99. So if you want to cool off when the sun does decide to shine, the Council has a range of free and low cost swimming options for those keen to don their trunks and armbands.

Waltham Forest offers free swimming for under 18s, over 60s and disabled people. Young residents who are under 18 can swim for free at any time at the borough's pools, programme permitting. All that's needed is a membership card which costs £1 from any Waltham Forest leisure centre.

Adults aged 60 and over who hold a Freedom Pass can also take advantage of free swimming seven days a week. To be eligible, they need a pay and play card, which costs £7.10 for an annual pass and is available at any leisure centre, with proof of age and address.

For more information visit www.better.org.uk/areas/waltham-forest.

What you say

Residents tell Waltham Forest News what they think about the Council's work to help all residents enjoy a good quality of life

John Norman, Chingford

"I think it's good to have a free programme of activities. I quite like music events if I'm honest so anything to support local music acts would be really good, and a way to help up and coming local bands."

Janne Bigombe, Chingford

"It's really nice having free swimming because I have children. It would be good to increase the number of places that put on physical activities so that everyone can have access. For example, some churches have halls and if they are not using these spaces maybe the Council could make use of them."

Harley Cooper, Chingford

"I went to the Chingford Big Weekender last year and I'm planning to go again this year – it was really good. It has a sense of community and is something nice to do in the summer. Along with things like the food markets that come up in the summer, it puts the place on the map a bit."

Family

Priority: We will support affordable housing for everyone's needs

Priority: We will help build a strong local economy and thriving town centres

In brief

Residents thronged to the opening earlier this month

Gnome House

The opening of Gnome House, a new community arts hub, on the site of a former World War One aircraft engine factory on Saturday 2 May was attended by around 1,000 local residents. The 1,800 square foot venue on Blackhorse Lane, Walthamstow was opened by Mayor of Waltham Forest, Cllr Terry Wheeler, along with the help of local children. The launch event included African drumming, classical Indian dancing, a street-dance workshop, face painting, live music, t-shirt printing and spoken word poetry by local young people.

• For more information, visit www.gnomehouse.org.uk.

Where in Wally?

ArchitectsE17 have launched a mapping project called 'Where in Wally?' and are looking for input from local residents. They would like residents to nominate a treasured publicly-accessible place in Walthamstow and tell the story of why they appreciate it so much. A form on their website allows details to be included and the place will then appear on the Where in Wally map in a few days. As part of the E17 Art Trail running between Saturday 30 May and Saturday 13 June the place will have a special tag attached along with the story.

• For more visit <https://architectse17.wordpress.com/where-in-wally/>.

Chicken Challenge

Three quarters of us eat chicken every week, so Waltham Forest Council's Food and Safety Team are urging residents to take the Chicken Challenge to avoid food poisoning. You should bag and store raw chicken separately from other food, and keep it covered and chilled on the bottom shelf of the fridge. Don't wash raw chicken as it splashes germs around the kitchen. Wash everything that's touched raw chicken in soap and hot water – including your hands and utensils. And check chicken is cooked properly so that it is steaming hot, with no pink meat and juices that run clear.

• You can sign up to take the pledge at www.food.gov.uk/chickenchallenge. You could even win a prize!

Cllr Clyde Loakes on the set of the film launched to promote the new neighbourhoods model

New Neighbourhoods Team

- Council launches Neighbourhoods Team for environmental services
- New locally-focused service will see a dedicated officer for each ward

The way the Council delivers environmental services is changing with the creation of new Neighbourhoods Team. These will manage all the services which collectively make sure your street is safe, clean, green and, most of all, loved.

The new Neighbourhoods Teams will look after services including street cleaning, waste and recycling, street trading, fly-tipping and other enviro-crimes, noise, planning enforcement, anti-social behaviour and more.

The Council understands that the cleanliness and quality of our streets continues to be one of the main concerns raised by residents and is a key issue influencing their everyday quality of life.

That's why it has put such an emphasis on encouraging residents to reduce, reuse and recycle whatever they can and why it has made tackling enviro-crime such a particular priority over recent years.

From hammering down fly-tipping by a third, to providing a free bulky waste service and fining people caught littering or spitting in our town centres, Waltham Forest has been pushing policy changes and making innovative improvements year on year.

"We will of course continue to work hard to maintain the quality of those services, but we also need to go further," said Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Environment.

"We are evolving our service so that our residents not only help to keep the borough clean, but become more engaged in what's happening in their neighbourhoods."

The Council has created four new Neighbourhoods Teams, each with responsibility for a number of wards, and each ward with a dedicated officer. By placing officers at the heart of communities, they can help to make a real difference in maintaining standards and addressing issues.

"We want our residents to love where they live and take pride in their neighbourhoods, and our staff to work in partnership with them to ensure we play our part," said Cllr Loakes.

"By localising our staff and providing them with electronic equipment in the form of tablets, we can be more visible, more responsive, more approachable and more flexible in addressing the needs of the different communities we serve."

The Council is promising that the change will allow them to provide a far more proactive service that identifies issues as they arise and anticipates patterns of concern before they develop.

By having an improved presence on the streets and a more concentrated remit for each team, it is hoped that the new service will encourage residents to engage in a far more meaningful way.

In order to help publicise the new service, the Council recently made a short film in Coronation Gardens, Leyton. The film shows a living room being assembled in the park from items that have been collected through the partnership the Council has with Forest Recycling.

"We've won awards for the 'Furnishing the Future' programme by diverting items away from being recycled or disposed of, to being reused," said Cllr Loakes. "When a resident asks for a bulky waste collection, they are asked if the item might be reused."

"Items such as sofas or wardrobes often have plenty of life left in them, so by arranging for Forest Recycling to pick them up they can be found a new home. Many of the items in the film are just the sort of things found fly-tipped on our streets and yet they can all be either recycled or reused and picked up free of charge by our Bulky Waste Collection Service."

More info

For more information on the new service visit www.walthamforest.gov.uk/mystreet. You can also view the film by visiting the Council's YouTube page at <https://youtu.be/UyC8TkUaSp0>. Free internet access is available at all libraries in the borough.

Caribbean con company clobbered in court

- Council's Trading Standards Service hit holiday firm for £3,749
- Court provides justice for resident sent fake electronic flight ticket

A Waltham Forest resident's family holiday was ruined when a travel agent took £9,000 for flight bookings and then issued fake electronic tickets

Waltham Forest Council's Trading Standards Service flexed its muscles recently when a local resident was left high and dry by travel agents after booking a holiday to Jamaica.

The resident complained to Trading Standards after parting with over £9,000 for a dream holiday for a family of five with Virgin Atlantic Airlines. The booking was made over the telephone with Flexi Holidays Limited of 86-90 Paul Street, London EC2 in March 2014, but the money was never transferred to Virgin.

On a number of occasions they told the consumer that the flights had been booked and the tickets would follow. They even went as far as issuing a fake electronic flight ticket, but inadvertently used a phased out Virgin Atlantic Airways logo on the ticket to give it an authentic appearance. To add insult to injury, Flexi Holidays shamelessly wished the consumer "an enjoyable holiday" in a covering letter.

Thankfully, the resident's diligence caused her to query the validity of the ticket. The savvy consumer had also taken the precaution of paying using a credit card, which gave her a certain degree of protection and meant she could recoup a large portion of the monies paid out.

The case was heard on 10 April at Thames Magistrates' Court in the absence of Company Director Karla James, who failed to attend. Flexi Holidays was found guilty on two counts under the Consumer Protection from Unfair Trading Regulations 2008, for engaging in an unfair commercial practice, and one count under the Trade Marks Act 1994. The company was ordered to pay a fine of £3,000, costs of £629 and a £120 victim's surcharge.

"This company got exactly what it deserved and I commend our Trading Standards Service for seeing this matter through on behalf of the resident," said Cllr Clyde Loakes, Deputy Leader and Cabinet Member for Environment.

"At a time when this Council is doing everything it can to help small businesses create employment and opportunities in the borough it is all the more important to ensure rogue traders like this are held to account. Let this be a warning to any business looking to rip off the residents of Waltham Forest, we will not hesitate to put you in court to face the consequences of your actions."

Chingford

Chingford Morris Men are encouraging residents to give Morris dancing a try. You can also book the group to dance at a variety of events

Be there with bells on!

- Chingford Morris Men want local people to give Morris dancing a try
- Women and children are also welcome to join in the fun

With the recent good weather and bank holiday weekends to enjoy, many of us might have escaped the city to partake in that most English of traditions – a walk in the countryside followed by a good old fashioned ploughman's pub lunch.

One traditional pursuit that most Londoners won't have tried recently, however, is Morris dancing. Good news then that Waltham Forest's very own Chingford Morris Men is encouraging the rest of us to reconnect with a form of English folk dance first recorded in the 15th century. Waltham Forest News caught up with members of the group to find out more.

Chingford Morris Men has its origins in 1961, when local man Peter Boyce, a teacher at Chingford High School, started to teach Morris dancing to his first year pupils. Some of the boys had also previously attended Chingford Church of England Primary School, where they were taught a Morris dance by their teacher, Mrs Murray. The group was soon expanded to include other local people in 1962, and the Chingford Morris Men was born.

Helen Wilson, Chingford Morris Men's 'Bagman', told Waltham Forest News: "Geoff Hughes, one of the original 'Chingford boys', created the Chingford tradition of dances which are exclusively danced by Chingford Morris Men. The current Squire of Chingford Morris Men, Adrian Hilton, has also been a member of the side for 43 years, so I'm glad to say that we are still very much connected to our founder members.

She added: "When we celebrated our 50th anniversary in 2012, a number of our past members came to join in the celebrations, including Peter Boyce and Geoff Hughes."

Morris dance is a form of English folk dance and is usually accompanied by music. It is based on rhythmic stepping and choreographed patterns, performed by a group of dancers.

The dancers usually wear bells on their shins or feet, and may also use implements such as sticks, swords or handkerchiefs. Today, there are six predominant styles of Morris Dancing. Each is named either after the region of origin, or the implements used in the dance. They are: Cotswold, North West, Border, Sword Dancing, Rapper and Molly dancing.

Chingford Morris Men mostly dance their own 'Chingford Tradition' dances, including 'The Original Chingford Stick dance' and their newest dance 'Golden Glory' which was written by Geoff Hughes to commemorate the 50th anniversary of the side.

Unlike some Morris sides, Chingford Morris Men also boast a women's section, playfully referred to as 'The Chingford Men in skirts'.

Helen explained: "Women started dancing with Chingford Morris Men around 20 years ago, when the partners of some of the men in the side were interested in learning dances themselves, rather than just spectating. Whereas their male counterparts mainly dance in the Cotswold tradition, the ladies' dances come from the North West Morris tradition."

The Chingford Morris Men meet at 8pm every Monday at Friday Hall (56 Friday Hill East, E4 6JT) and a junior practice session also takes place on the third Sunday of every month.

Complete beginners can attend the regular practice nights, but are advised to get in touch first to check where the side are dancing that night. There is no charge to join Chingford Morris Men, as the majority of expenses are covered via fundraising and private bookings.

Helen said: "We have 21 regular members, who are either musicians or dancers, or in some cases both. Our members' ages range from nine years old to 75, but we have no minimum or maximum age to join. I'd encourage anyone to come along to a practice session and see how much fun people of all ages have."

She added: "Morris dancing is an entertaining way of keeping fit, enjoying the outdoors and keeping tradition alive and kicking. We welcome new members to dance or to join the band of musicians, dancers need no experience."

Saying thank you to our nurses

- Waltham Forest News celebrates local nursing staff
- Whipps Cross nurses provide care to hundreds of patients every day

Surgical nurses Zuzanna Kusz and Kinga Cholewa help Whipps Cross Hospital patients who undergo operations

It may not be the easiest career choice in the world, and certainly not for the faint-hearted, but few could argue how crucial nurses are to the health and wellbeing of hospital patients up and down the country.

Whipps Cross Hospital (Whipps Cross Road, E11 1NR) employs an army of nurses who work day in, day out to look after thousands of patients as they battle all kinds of illnesses and ailments.

Working such long hours while doing whatever they can to help sick patients on their road to recovery would be too big an ask for many of us, but for Zuzanna Kusz and Kinga Cholewa it's what they've always wanted to do. They are just two of the hundreds of unsung heroes who work at Whipps – and who we are celebrating as part of our feature series on your local hospital.

Both are originally from Poland and work as surgical nurses at Whipps – meaning they provide care to patients before, during and after surgery.

Zuzanna told Waltham Forest News that a typical day will see her taking care of patients on up to seven beds on her ward – administering drugs, checking vital signs, making people as comfortable as possible and generally acting as the link between patients and doctors.

The 30-year-old told Waltham Forest News: "This job comes with a lot of responsibility because you are taking care of people's lives. You have to be focussed every day, all the time, for every second."

And Zuzanna wouldn't have it any other way. "I've always wanted to be a surgical nurse and look after people so this is a dream come true," she said.

Meanwhile, 28-year-old Kinga didn't decide to become a nurse until she was in her mid-20s. She said: "When I was 24 I went into nursing and realised how great it was and that it was what I wanted to do in life.

"I'm very happy that I've got the chance to work in this hospital. The atmosphere here is very good and all the staff are very supportive, but it's the patients that really motivate me – when I'm working I do all I can to help them."

Zuzanna added: "One of the biggest motivations for me is when the patients say thank you and you see them get better."

The two surgical nurses are backed by what they described as an "amazing group of healthcare workers", who support nurses at Whipps with their day-to-day duties.

Many of the patients the team helps have illnesses that require them to be extremely sensitive and understanding. Zuzanna said a lot of the male patients that come through to her ward are suffering from prostate cancer, while many of the female patients she looks after are battling breast cancer. But because they look after patients with a variety of illnesses, nurses have to know about the specialist care needed for many conditions.

Despite facing such challenging circumstances on a regular basis, both credited a "great team atmosphere" at Whipps as helping inspire staff to strive to deliver first-class patient care.

Zuzanna said: "Everybody is a team here. I'm very proud to be here, I feel good here – I think of it as my home."

In brief

Deputy Mayor for London Roger Evans visited Whitefield this month

Healthy Schools

Pupils and staff at Whitefield Schools and Centre (MacDonald Road, E17 4AZ) were celebrating earlier this month after becoming the first school in the borough to be awarded silver status in the Healthy Schools London programme. The scheme, which is sponsored by the Mayor of London, aims to help the capital's children stay healthy and happy as they grow up. It offers three levels of accreditation that schools can achieve – bronze, silver and gold – and they do so by meeting criteria relating to healthy eating, physical activity, emotional health and wellbeing, and personal, social, health and economic education. Cllr Ahsan Khan, Cabinet Member for Health and Wellbeing, said: "We're committed to doing all we can to give our young people the best start in life – and through the Healthy Schools London programme they are learning how to eat well, remain fit and active and lead healthy lifestyles as they get older. We currently have 51 schools taking part in the programme, and would encourage those who have not yet signed up to find out how it could benefit their pupils."

Asthma pollen warning

With 'pollen season' well and truly upon us, the UK's leading asthma charity is warning that people who suffer from asthma could find their symptoms get worse as temperatures rise and hay fever symptoms attack. Dr Samantha Walker, Director of Policy and Research at Asthma UK, said: "One in 11 people in the UK have asthma and around 80 per cent of them find that pollen makes their symptoms worse. With high pollen counts likely in the coming weeks, this puts them at increased risk of a potentially life threatening asthma attack. If you have hay fever and asthma it is vital you use a steroid nasal spray every day together with non-drowsy antihistamine tablets as needed. You must also keep your reliever inhaler on you at all times too, just in case of an asthma attack."

Making a difference

- You could help change lives by becoming a foster carer
- Find out more during Foster Care Fortnight next month

If you have patience, humour and energy along with good communication skills then you could help make a huge difference to a child's life by becoming a foster carer.

Waltham Forest has many fantastic foster carers who provide a nurturing and stable environment where a child can feel safe and secure. And ahead of Foster Care Fortnight – an awareness-raising campaign organised by the Fostering Network which takes place from Monday 1 to Sunday 14 June – Waltham Forest News spoke to one young person who's benefitted from the borough's fostering service.

Eleven-year-old Jay Brown is currently being looked after by Sandra and Lee Elliott, a couple who have helped several young people during their time as foster carers in Waltham Forest.

Jay said: "Living with Sandra, Lee and their family has been a good experience. They're really nice. I've got two brothers and a sister [Sandra's birth children] who I like having around because they understand me and take me nice places."

Sandra first thought about becoming a foster carer 16 years ago when she contracted a serious virus – prompting her family to rally together to support Sandra and her children.

She said: "Over the years we have fostered three children long term and had a few short term placements. The children have gone onto independent living or back with their birth families. Fostering is hard work but very rewarding."

As well as receiving a professional fee for their care work, foster carers are given an allowance for each child they foster to meet all their needs. A variety of support services are also available to help foster carers whenever they need it.

Jay remembers being shy when he first came to live with Sandra, but has since grown in confidence. "Although Sandra and Lee are not my real parents, they act like they are and get on with my mum and dad, he said. "I am happy that my mum likes Sandra and understands if I sometimes accidentally call her mum.

"Since living with Sandra I have been to lots of clubs. I played rugby for Chingford Rugby Club for a year and now play football for Ridgeway Rovers. I started Cubs when I first come to live with Sandra and am now a Scout."

For the past two years, Jay has also been a member of the borough's Children in Care (CIC) Council – elected representatives of Waltham Forest's children and young people in care and care leavers. Their aim is to represent the issues and concerns of young people in order to help the Council shape the services that matter most to them.

"We meet regularly and aim to get more children involved," he said. We talk about lots of different things and get to talk to the heads of Children's Services. We have also organised summer fun days and all went camping in Scotland last summer which was a fantastic break – we got to climb Ben Nevis!"

"After the recent CIC Council elections, we talked a lot about politics at school which I really enjoyed so I might like to become a politician! I always wanted to be a footballer but I know you have to be really good."

Cllr Mark Rusling, Waltham Forest Council's Cabinet Member for Children and Young People, said: "It's fantastic to see how well young people like Jay are doing thanks to amazing foster carers like Sandra and her family.

"The positive impact our fostering service can have on a young person's life cannot be underestimated and so I would encourage anyone considering becoming a foster carer to get in touch – you really could make a huge difference."

In brief

Cllr Angie Bean unveils the mural at George Mason Lodge

Mural unveiled

Residents at a care home in Leytonstone have been given an early taste of summer thanks to an art project created by local teenagers. Students at Leyton Sixth Form College have been demonstrating their artistic flair at George Mason Lodge, in Chelmsford Road, by painting a beach-themed mural on the wall of the Council-run care home's garden outbuilding. The project, which was funded by a donation to the home from a member of the public, came about after staff at George Mason Lodge invited the College to transform the wall into a colourful piece of art. Cllr Angie Bean, Waltham Forest Council's Cabinet Member for Adult Services, said: "Thanks to this hard-working group of talented young people, residents at George Mason Lodge now have a beautiful mural in their back garden – and a permanent taste of summer to put a smile on their faces whatever the weather."

MAKING SURE YOUR STREET IS CLEAN GREEN SAFE LOVED

26,000 FREE BULKY WASTE
COLLECTIONS MADE LAST YEAR

REDUCE, REUSE, RECYCLE

Along with collecting nearly 200,000 bins of waste and recycling each week and sorting litter as we collect it, the new Neighbourhoods Team will be working hard to boost the borough's recycling rates.

Not only will they be encouraging residents to recycle even more waste, but they are continuing to work with local charities so that bulky items such as tables, chairs and sofas can be reused where possible.

The 'Furnishing the Future' programme, run with charity Forest Recycling, is just one of the successes of this work, having won awards for diverting bulky goods away from being recycled or disposed of, to being reused.

When a resident asks for a bulky waste collection, they are asked if the item might be reused. Items such as sofas or wardrobes often have plenty of life left in them, so by arranging for Forest Recycling to pick them up, rather than the Council's recycling crew, the items can be found a new home with another family.

PRIORY COURT IMPROVEMENTS

The Neighbourhoods Team is already working hard to make a difference. Following concerns raised by local residents about overgrown bushes in Priory Court, Walthamstow that were collecting litter and being used to hide illegal objects, the team got to work.

Coordinating a day of action they brought together all of the organisations that were needed to sort out this problem including Community Payback, housing providers, police and other Council teams. Working together they removed bushes, cleared litter and fly-tipping, then covered the ground with wood chip to make it look better and help keep it tidy. Thorn bushes were also removed to make regular works easier and new plants that are better suited to the area are being introduced.

This has all led to the area becoming cleaner, safer and more accessible to the local community.

EVERY STREET CLEANED AT LEAST ONCE A WEEK

LOVE YOUR AREA

While the Neighbourhoods Team will continue to work hard to provide quality services, we still need your help. As well as doing your bit by putting your litter in the bin, picking up after your dog and recycling even more of your waste, we want you to report any issues that you see.

By letting us know about fly-tipping, untidy areas or issues around dog fouling, we can not only clear it up but we can also look at ways of stopping it from happening in the future, like issuing fines and prosecuting offenders.

We know the actions of a few can spoil our great neighbourhoods, so by working together and giving us information about issues in your area, we can investigate and take action to make sure your street is clean, green, safe and most of all loved.

FLY-TIPPING REDUCED BY A THIRD IN THREE YEARS
